JOURNAL N°1 — "Arch of Serenity"

(Extension of the protostructure into an inhabitable frame)

"A frame is not a limit —it's a passage for bodies and light."— thought of the day

MATERIAL

Wooden arches: soft spans Greenery: flexible, softening the frame Shadows: drifting with the sun Openings: directed, welcoming Structure: layered, walkable

TOOLS

Arch templates Rope tension Supports Perspective Ground contact

"To arch is to open without collapse."

GESTURE

Curve . Anchor . Step through . Lean . Follow . Pause.

THOUGHT

This structure is not meant to dominate.It invites.

Day and night, it becomes a threshold. A calm pocket in the rhythm of the square. A roof without walls. A garden without enclosure.
